"BELIEVE IT'S JUMPIN" SINGLE

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Stargiela is not only a self-made CEO, he's a lyricist whose music nurtures your soul and feeds your inner creativity by bringing perceptive lyricism back to rap. You can hear Stargiela's charisma and fluid bravado delivered on each track, providing lyrics everyone can relate to. What differs Stargiela from a lot of today's rap is that he accredits his lyrics to real-life situations he's experienced.

Stargiela's popularity grew after his single, "Believe It's Jumpin", which became one of his most sought after videos on YouTube, growing to over 40,000 views after a short period of time. Stargiela proves by staying true to himself it will align him to his true purpose, which is to restore hip-hop back to its early roots and incorporate street knowledge with the music industry. His label, Third World Records plans to restore order between hip-hop culture and street culture.

Born and raised in South Jamaica Queens, New York Stargiela began his rap career at 15, at the prestigious performing arts institution, The Juilliard School. Following a series of mixtapes, Stargiela along with three other former group members were signed to Commission Records and completed the album Soul Food. After parting ways with the group, Stargiela began his solo career releasing his first project, Not To Be Sold.

Using a direct-to-consumer marketing plan, he was able to bring in 20,000 dollars in straight sales. Stargiela's quick on his feet decisions and sharp marketing ability proves he's capable of longevity in the years to come.

Dorissa White

BIOGRAPHY

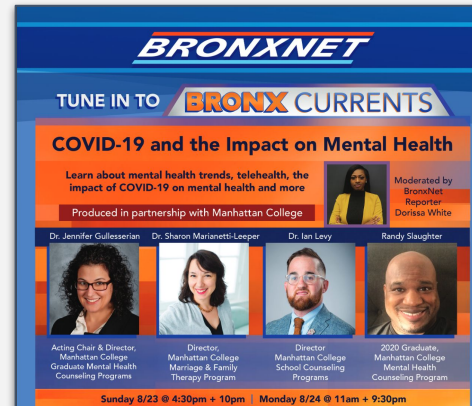

Dorissa began her on-air career as a NPR radio host for WSIU in Carbondale, IL before moving to New York City on a whim. Dorissa landed her first job at the number one television market's premier 24/7 news station—NY1—where she assisted with field production. There Dorissa covered stories ranging from transit, sports, and education to crime and politics, including the 2016 presidential election.

She currently works for Bronxnet Television as a reporter producing hyper local news stories and profile pieces; among them an interview package profiling Dr. Yusef Salaam of the Exonerated Five. Additionally, Dorissa works as an entertainment reporter for The Knockturnal's online magazine, and has interviewed notable celebrities like Tyler Perry, Phylicia Rashad, Lupita Nyong'o, Brandy, and Anne Hathaway among many others.

Dorissa has also moderated forums for Manhattan College, The Bronx Borough President's Office, Diverse Representation, and has a wealth of keynote speaking experience.

ASHLEY TIFFANEY

BIOGRAPHY

Ashley Tiffaney Stewart, known professionally as Ashley Tiffaney, is a powerful media voice in hip-hop, pop culture and news. She is a multi-media personality, producer, and content creator from Queens, New York. The media maven has worked in front of the camera and behind-the-scenes in a newsroom, field production set, video editing, and writing. Growing up, Ashley's father would always play hip-hop and R&B around the house. Ashley grew a strong liking for music and began taking piano lessons at the age of 10. She then began her on-air career as a radio host at the City College of New York.

Ashley's passion and love for field production, interviewing, and music led to the birth of her hip-hop interview/documentary web series, Stay On TV in 2018. The platform highlights emerging artists and creatives in urban entertainment which gives a raw behind-the-scenes look into their lives. Notable interviews with Jadakiss, Dapper Dan, Sheff G, Sleepy Hallow, and Fat Joe among many others are featured on the show. Ashley's goals are to expand the series to multiple cities and create job opportunities for Black women in the music industry.

Ashley has held a marketing position at Sirius XM and a contributing writer position at Above Average Hip-Hop Magazine. She currently works for Bronxnet Television as a reporter producing hyper local news stories; interviewing Congresswoman Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Bronx Borough President Ruben Diaz Jr., Nas, and Yandy Smith among others. Additionally, Ashley works as an entertainment reporter for The Knockturnal. Ashley hopes to help others find their higher self and to do whatever else God has planned for her. Ashley firmly believes it is written and that she is doing what God created her to do — create uplifting content, help others, and inspire.

With a degree in Creative Writing and Journalism, her next sights are set on public speaking, becoming a music executive, and acting.

The reason why I do this. I want to help others and bring people on my platform that can inspire others. It's a ripple effect. #WomensHistoryMonth #StayOnTV New episode out now! youtu.be/-Smi6URFA0s Girl I just finished watching the panel discussion that you posted today and I really liked it Ashley. It's really great to hear other peoples experience in the the media field especially black aspiring women. Anything is truly possible if you put your mind to it and work hard at it. Nothing is ever too big and everybody has there own path. These are things that young girls need to hear. Love it Girl!
